Custody Companion

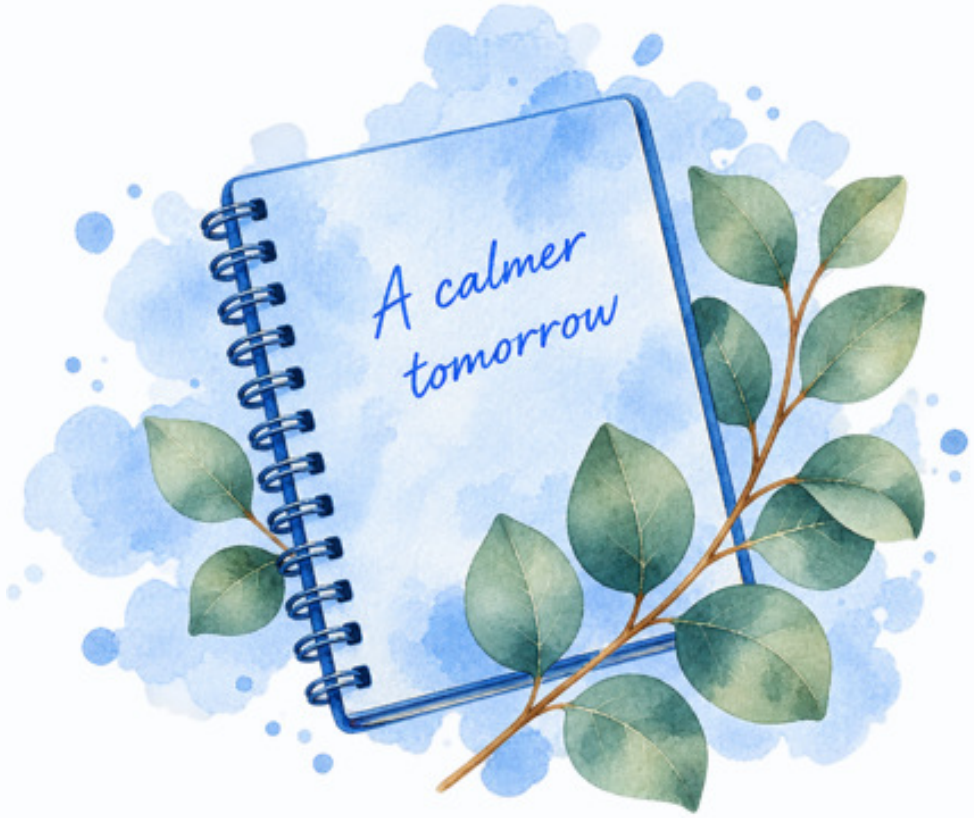
A PARTNERSHIP INTRODUCTION

Two homes.
One clear picture.

A connected workspace for separated parents

For people and organisations supporting families

Custody Companion



THE EVERYDAY LOAD

The details add up

Handovers. School details. Messages. Appointments. Important records.

When information lives in different places, parents have to piece it together when they need support.

Built by Tom Hegarty, a dad of three, from his own experience of separation.

Custody Companion

THE WORKSPACE

One connected family workspace

Family and schedules

Care arrangements, child information and calendars.

Communication

Co-parent conversations, attachments and transcripts.

Records, preparation and support

Useful records, reports and community connections.

Feature availability varies by plan, platform and staged rollout.

Custody Companion

FAMILY AND SCHEDULES

The family week, in view

Recurring care arrangements, dated changes and a unified calendar help families keep routines in view.

Child care details, together

Child profiles keep useful school, medical and care information in the same workspace.

Custody Companion

COMMUNICATION

Conversations with context

Co-parent messages and attachments stay together in a dedicated conversation.

A history parents can revisit

Return to the conversation and export a CSV transcript when a separate copy would help.

Connected messaging requires the other participant to be connected.

Custody Companion

RECORDS AND PREPARATION

Useful records, ready to revisit

Parents can capture dated, factual entries, attach supporting files and organise documents.

A clearer history for a conversation

Selected records can become a chronological report for personal review or a professional appointment.

Voice capture and reports require eligible paid plans.

Custody Companion

ASK YOUR CASE / BETA

Answers with sources

Parents can ask questions across selected incidents and documents, follow citations and inspect the underlying information.

The source stays part of the conversation.

AI can miss context or make mistakes. Check the sources. Custody Companion does not provide legal advice.

Custody Companion

COMMUNITY AND RESOURCES

Support beyond the schedule

Community conversations and circles give parents another way to connect.

Information at their own pace

Public articles, guides and the Help Center sit alongside the family workspace.

Community activity uses separate privacy controls from private family records.

Custody Companion

PRIVACY AND CONTROL

Control over what gets shared

Families can configure access by child and information type, separate view and edit permissions, and revoke connected access.

Parents choose what to bring

They decide what to export or share with a professional. Community activity stays separate from private family records.

Custody Companion

WEB, IPHONE AND ANDROID

The workspace travels with them

Parents can access Custody Companion on the web and through the mobile apps.

Useful in the moment

Mobile tools include voice capture and connected audio or video calls on supported plans and devices.

App artwork shows example family information. Features differ by plan and platform.

Custody Companion

GETTING STARTED

A free place to start

The core app is free.

Family connections, parenting schedules, co-parent messaging with attachments and CSV transcript export, and community access are included.

Optional paid plans add features. Shared expense tools are rolling out. See current plan details online.

Custody Companion

FOR FAMILY SUPPORT PARTNERS

A useful companion to your support

Counsellors and family services

Practical details parents can bring to appointments.

Mediators and parenting coordinators

Relevant schedules, conversations and records.

Family lawyers

Reports and supporting records chosen by the client.

Professionals remain responsible for their own advice, assessment and requirements.

Custody Companion

AN INVITATION TO WORK TOGETHER

A partnership we can shape together

01 Explore the workspace

A walkthrough focused on the families you support.

02 Discuss a small pilot

Agree where it fits and how to introduce it.

03 Share what you learn

Share what families and practitioners need.

Custody Companion

Let’s make this easier.

If you support families through separation,
we’d love to explore how we can work together.
